

A wide-angle, low-angle photograph of a vast, flat, open landscape, likely a desert or coastal plain. The ground is a mix of light and dark patches, suggesting sand and sparse vegetation. The horizon is a sharp, straight line. A few small, dark figures are visible on the horizon, emphasizing the scale of the landscape. The sky is a uniform, pale, overcast grey.

Timeless Morocco

Vladimir Slivka

as if the time would stop to exist for a little moment.
morocco as a place untouched with a phenomena of time.
timeless.

as if everything would exist only for that very present moment,
and forever in the same time.
